

Telstra Payment Assistance Policy.

1 Introduction

If you're finding it hard to pay for your Telstra services, we're here to help support you and keep you connected.

All Telstra customers have the right to ask for help if they are having problems paying their bills.

This policy explains:

- what we can do to help you manage your payments
- how we consider your circumstances and needs
- your rights as a customer receiving payment assistance
- how you can have a support person contact us on your behalf; and
- how you can contact us for help.

1.1 When might you need our help?

Difficult times can put people under unexpected financial stress. There may be circumstances that make it harder for you to pay for your Telstra services. Whether it's a short-term setback or something longer term, we understand payment difficulties can happen for different reasons, and we're here to help.

You may find you need payment assistance due to:

- personal or household illness
- unemployment
- low or reduced income
- impact from domestic or family violence
- a death in the family
- a change in circumstances; or
- a natural disaster.

If you are having problems paying for your Telstra services, our priority is to keep you connected, get you back on track and make sure you feel you can meet your financial commitments. We'll only disconnect your Telstra services as a last resort. The sooner you contact us, the sooner we can help you.

1.2 What payment assistance does Telstra offer?

We offer a range of options to help you if you are having trouble paying your bills. The process for identifying a suitable arrangement is at no cost to you and will depend on how long you think you need support.

- Short-term support when you need help for up to 3 months; and
- Long-term support when you need help for more than 3 months.

Whatever your situation, we will work with you to find a solution that is right for you.

1.3 Eligibility for payment assistance

To be eligible for support, you must:

- be an active Telstra customer; and
- have problems paying for your Telstra service.

Don't worry if you have an open complaint or other enquiry with Telstra, or an open complaint with the Telecommunications Industry Ombudsman (TIO), we will still help you.

You may not be eligible for our payment assistance if we verify that you don't have an active service with Telstra.

If you are a business customer or organisation, you may also be eligible for payment assistance. Please contact us to see how we can help.

If you are not eligible for our support, we will contact you and let you know why.

2.3 What we will do to help you

We'll assess your application as soon as we can and contact you within 7 business days to advise of the outcome of your request. We'll update you if it's taking longer than expected.

When assessing your request for support, we may ask questions about your situation so we can tailor our help for you. If you need short-term support or are a victim-survivor of domestic violence, we won't ask for any evidence to support your application.

For long-term support, we may ask you for more information to assess your eligibility, in which case we will let you know why and give you reasonable time to collect and give us that information.

No matter your circumstances, we will:

- give you clear information about how we can support you under this Policy
- treat you with empathy and respect in discussions and help you with your specific needs.
- consider your individual circumstances and act fairly and reasonably, including offering you flexible and affordable support options.

After assessing your request, we'll contact you to discuss a range of support options and work to find a solution that is right for you. We will implement any support options as soon as possible, once agreed by you.

We will also confirm the details of the payment assistance plan in writing within 2 business days of your agreement to that plan.

If you are not eligible for our support, we will tell you why.

We understand the importance of staying connected and will only take steps that impact your service where there is no other reasonable way forward. We won't suspend or disconnect your service while we work through your request for payment assistance and while you have an agreed payment assistance plan in place.

2.4 How you can track the progress of your request for support

You can only have one open Payment Assistance request open at any given time, so please don't raise a request using multiple methods at the same time. To track the progress of your request you can contact us or you can also follow the steps below to view the progress of your request in the My Telstra app.

1. Sign in to My Telstra
2. In the top right-hand corner, go to Profile
3. Select New account activity and then select the In progress tab.

2.5 Your payment assistance plan

Our aim is to ensure you can meet your financial commitments and feel confident in managing your ongoing Telstra costs as well as keeping you connected.

At the conclusion of your payment assistance plan, we will send you confirmation advising that you will return to your usual service and plan conditions, including payment due dates. You can reach out to discuss extending the support if your circumstances have changed or if you still require assistance at that time. If you have previously received payment assistance, you can apply again at any time.

You may no longer be eligible for help under an agreed payment assistance plan if:

- you fail to meet an obligation in your payment assistance plan, such as not making an agreed payment when it is due; and/or
- you don't make reasonable attempts to respond if we try to contact you about your payment assistance plan and the possibility of suspension or disconnection of your service;
- we genuinely believe you are unable or unwilling to pay your debts and we want to avoid you increasing the debt you owe us; or
- you agree you won't be able to complete your payment assistance plan.

We will only take action such as suspending or disconnecting your service as a last resort and we will tell you in writing at least 10 business days before we take that action.

2.6 Please let us know if your situation changes

Please contact us if your situation changes and you can no longer meet the obligations of your payment assistance plan or need more help. We can then review your plan and work with you to see how we can tailor it to your new situation.

If you fail to meet an agreed payment assistance plan, we will contact you and offer to review that plan.

It is also important to tell us if your contact details change. You can contact us or update your contact details via the My Telstra app

1. Sign in to My Telstra
2. In the top right-hand corner, go to Profile, then select Account Settings
3. Select Personal Details
4. Update your personal details
5. Check that your details are correct and then Submit.
